SPRING 2018

My favorite day of "days of taste" is day one. I like day one because we were tasting a variety of things. Another reason why I liked day one is because, we tried things mixed together. Another reason why I like day one is because we tried new types of taste such as the brown powder. The last reason I liked day one is because we tried a new cheese and leaf, the leaf is called "Asugula" and don't know what the cheese was called.
