

My favorite part of days of taste was when we were at the farm. At the farm, I liked seeing the pigs and chickens. It was interesting how chickens lay many different colors of eggs. It was also at the farm interesting how different radishes taste different, some sweet, some a bit sour.